ABOUT GEORGIAN WINE TRADITION

...the only country in the world where winemaking methods that were developed up to 8,000 years ago have not been abandoned, but remain in many ways best practice.

HISTORY

Georgia's tradition of making wines began 8000 years ago—3000 years before the invention of writing and 5000 years before the beginning of the Iron Age. While ancient civilizations like Egypt and Greece developed wine cultures of their own, all owed a debt to Georgian viticulture.

The mention of the ancient traditions of vine growing and high quality winemaking in Georgia can be found in the works of Homer and Apollonius of Rhodes. Even the unique Georgian alphabet is modeled after the shape of the vine's curly offshoots. Many of the vines still in cultivation in Europe and Asia have a Georgian origin, and even Western words for wine—vin, vino, wine—likely come from the Georgian word gvino.

KAKHURI GVINIS MARANI (Kakhetian Wine Cellar)

Kakhuri Gvinis Marani is a family-owned winery in Georgia. It follows and continues the Georgian 8000 years old winemaking traditions and creates the finest wines for everyone's enjoyment. It is committed to growing, producing and selling the exceptional wine by merging Georgian traditions with the modern winemaking technologies. The company produces up to twenty distinctive wines that have received multiple medals at the international exhibitions. The company's vineyards are located in Tsinandali, Teliani, Akhasheni, Mukuzani, Manavi, and Gurjaani microzones.
